

Autopsy/mortuary technician (m/w/d)

Part-time; 50% -70%.

The Institute of Forensic and Traffic Medicine offering a job position at the earliest possible date.

The position is funded for 2 years, however, extension of the job offer is possible, according to the tariff TV-UK.

The successful applicant is expected to

- Assist in forensic autopsies including special preparation techniques.
- Participate in on-call duties.
- Share the co-responsibility for the organisation of the autopsy area including input (materials and consumables), administration of case data and image material.
- Be responsible for the preservation and storage of materials and post-mortem tissue specimens.
- Support the teaching activities in the institute.
- Support the postmortem imaging (CT, X-ray) proceedings.
- Participate in research projects as required.

Profile and eligibility criteria

- Certified professional training as an autopsy/mortuary technician or equivalent training.
- High motivation and interest in taking over the job responsible.
- Good knowledge and skills in special autopsy techniques as well as the proper production and storage of evidence objects.
- Organizing skills and computer skills (Word, Excel, Outlook, management of image material).
- Ability to work under pressure and time flexibility.
- Driving license.
- Precise working manner.
- Team-working ability.

Contact and application

If you find yourself interested,
full applications are to be submitted electronically to:

Heidelberg University Hospital
Institute of Forensic Medicine and Traffic Medicine
Prof. Dr. med. univ. Kathrin Yen
Voßstraße 2, 69115 Heidelberg kathrin.yen@med.uni-heidelberg.de